Thanks, Mike, Vicki called me this morning and let me know there is a separate process for the order of abatement before a hearing board rather than the governing board (I misunderstood the process).

I'm going to send you our best Halloween costume (not me, but it inspired me to think about next year).

Hi Wienke – sorry for late reply. I was waiting to hear back from Prosecutor's office. The Governing Board last Friday set the Public Hearing on Dec 6 for our proposed amendments to Rule 1420.1 that would affect Exide's arsenic, benzene, 1-3 butadiene emissions. They approved that with no discussion. Last week (although the letter was dated earlier) we received a disturbing letter (attached) from a bitter DTSC employee that we are currently addressing.

With regard to the order of abatement, it looks like our Hearing Board will be discussing and deciding on compliance/shutdown mid-December (calendar not posted yet but can be found http://www.aqmd.gov/hearbd/hb_cal.html when it is posted).

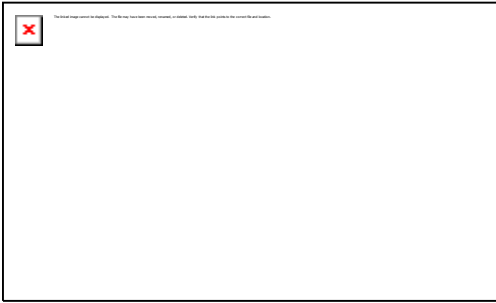

Hope this helps! --Mike

Hola –

Do you know what happened? Couldn't find anything on your Gov Bd website.

Check out the Order of Abatement for the cease and desist requirements.
